New Schools Network Delivery Programme

NSN's unrivalled knowledge and experience has been informed by its work with over two-thirds of open and approved free school groups throughout the application and pre-opening phases.

Opening a free school is a challenging, but incredibly rewarding experience. The preopening period is a long and complex process, requiring a large amount of time and expertise. New Schools Network (NSN) can support you through the pre-opening process to help you navigate and complete key tasks, ensuring that your free school project opens successfully.

The NSN Delivery Programme is designed to address the challenges of the rigorous pre-opening process. Whilst proposer groups have a wealth of skills and expertise, the NSN Delivery Programme fills gaps in capacity and capability, providing a range of support options to prepare schools for a successful opening. The elements of the Delivery Programme are outlined in more detail in this brochure.

NSN's exclusive programme of advice and support has been developed to comply with Department for Education (DfE) and Education and Skills Funding Agency guidance. We focus on the areas that our experience shows will provide free schools with the most value in pre-opening. We provide tailored support whether you are newly approved to open a free school or if you are already deep into the pre-opening phase, to all phases and types of free school. Our flexible offer means you can select the services you require at an affordable rate.

Our dynamic team has built a strong reputation for professionalism and expertise. NSN's deep institutional knowledge is supplemented by its team of experienced free school Specialists with track records in delivering complex free school projects. We are here to support you every step of the way.

The NSN Delivery Programme is designed to address the challenges of the rigorous pre-opening process.

The insight provided by the New Schools Network during the pre-opening phase was invaluable. The team were very approachable and offered transparent guidance which made the process easy, and enjoyable. Thank you to the team, I wouldn't hesitate to work with you again.”
